railway, of which branch Mr. Camden is a director, in the years 1878 9, in connection with the Laurel Fork & Sand Hill railway charged 65 cents per barrel freight on crude oil from Volcano to Parkersburg, a distance of twenty-five miles, and to-day are charging forty-cents per barrel, while the Pennsylvania railway in connection with the Cleveland & Marietta railway are carrying crude oil from Oil City, Penn., to Marietta, O., a distance of about three hundred miles for forty cents per barrel. The freight by the Allegheny Valley railway and Obio river from Oil City to Marietta is only fifteen cents per barrel, while the toll alone, charged by the Little Kanawh Navigation Company, in which Mr. Camden is a large owner and perhaps a director, is seventeen cents per barrel from Burning Springs to Parkersburg, about forty miles of "navigable tream." While Mr. Camden's Navigation Company is charging the poor, sickly W. Va. producer seventeen cents a barrel toll on his scant production, he informs the writer that it doesn't cost the Standard Comyany over five cents a barrel to pump oil from Butler county, Pennsylvania, to Cleveland, a distance three times the entire length of his "navigable stream." Mr. Cemden, being a member of the Standard Oil Company as well as of the Little Kanawha Navigation Company, to use an old term, "has his bread buttered on both sides."

Having shown how much these railway and river improvements have done in developing one of West Virginia's industries we would be gleave to call the Journal's attention to the true railway problem in which the people of West Virginia and of all her eister States are interested, viz: "How can we check the tendency on the part of consolidated corporate interests to reserve the part of consolidated corporate interests to reserve the part of consolidated corporate interests to reserve the consolidated corporate interests

The following extract from a report to the New York Chamber of Commerce by the Committee on Railway Transportation throws some light on the development of ambitious monopolies by railroal aid: "How oblivious of their obligations as common carriers, and how regardless of public rights are the great trunk lines, is illustrated by their making an agreement is performed is illustrated by the following fact within the writer's decay and the procedure of the properties of the following fact within the writer's decay and the prefetty and the the child health to the child, operating like magic.
